Sam's thrown by this - the last thing she thought Manny would say. Her countenance drops.

SAM
I, I... Dunno, my phone's charging... Why?

Manny shows his mobile. On the screen it shows a missed call from Cheryl Denon. Sam exhales wearily.

Lemme check my phone.

Sam goes to leave the room.

SAM
Well we want to talk about that

CHERYL DENON
(scared)
I'm sorry... I can't.

Sam stands up and jabs her finger towards Cheryl. Manny half-heartedly tries to pull his wife back to her seat.

SAM
Don't start that 'sorry' shit again! You're not sorry!

Isaac's had enough and gets up. The adults look at him.

ISAAC
I'm gonna um, I'm gonna - explain)

I'mma leave you lot to it.

The adults look guilty as Isaac retreats to the kitchen.

This might be your chance. Get out there and get her digits.

JESS

I don't need her number.

TYRONE

Whaaat? So you don't wanna go Hollywood?

JESS

Young Tyrone, there's more to acting than Hollywood.

TYRONE

Yeah, obviously, cos there's also Bollywood and Nollywood.

Jess rolls her eyes, unimpressed at Tyrone's humour.

TYRONE (CONT'D)

But Hollywood, man... that's Champions League football right there! How you let Isaac beat you to it?

JESS

Beat me to what? Tyrone, just - (dismisses)

JESS

Such a dumb question.

TYRONE

Why, cos you know Isaac would beat you to it?

Jess laughs mockingly. Isaac gives her an inquisitive look

I commend your loyalty to that place.

MANNY
Is that a compliment or a diss?

SABRI NA
It's a compliment! I mean, you're probably the first employee of ULC Cinemas that drives a Porsche.

MANNY
A second hand Porsche!... Plus I'm sure the chief exec has one.

SABRI NA
Mmmhmm and when was the last time he served popcorn in one of his cinemas?

MANNY
Do we have to chat about that place?

SABRI NA
But I had some fun times at ULC.

MANNY
I don't remember you ever having fun there.
